

TO TAKE UP MATTER OF CURRENCY REFORM

JOINT SESSION OF CURRENCY COMMITTEES PLANNED TO FORMULATE MEASURE.

PROVISIONS OUTLINED

Bill Will Be Introduced in Congress As Soon As Tariff Is Disposed of—To Have Administration's Approval.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—Chairman Owen of the senate banking and currency committee called its members together today and advised them of results of informal conferences with President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo and Chairman Glass of the house banking committee on the subject of currency reform. Hearings are to be arranged to be followed by joint sessions of the currency committee of both house and senate preparatory to currency legislation at the extra session of congress provided that the tariff is disposed of without unforeseen delay.

Senator Owen and Representative Glass have been looking upon as the men who will frame a measure to be known as the Owen-Glass bill to be introduced at the same time in both houses and carrying with it administration approval. These include:

Regional Reserve Banks. 1. Fifteen regional reserve banks which would act as fiscal agents for the government receiving deposits of public money, acting as banks of discount for the banks in their respective regions, and receiving a part of the reserves of the banks of the country. Currency would be issued through the regional reserve banks. Practically all the capital stock of these institutions, as well as any accruing profits, would be the property of the banks of each region.

Board of Supervisors. 2. A governing board to supervise the regional reserve banks would be established to consist of the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of agriculture, and the comptroller of the currency as ex-officio members. Four directors were appointed by the president of the United States. It is planned to have seven to nine members, the tenure of the directors selected by the banks to be longer than that of the other directors.

Elasticity Provision. 3. The elasticity of currency would be provided for by conditions calculated to prevent inflation. Any notes issued would be redeemable in gold by providing a reserve for actual gold redemption. There has been some question as to whether the notes should be United States notes, advanced to the banks upon an interest charge high enough to prevent inflation, or be bank notes under like conditions. State banks would be required to increase their reserves.

Use of Reserve. 4. The extent to which the reserves could be used has not been determined, but one plan is in favor of permitting their use under a reasonable tax. With respect to the rate of discount it has been variously suggested that the governing board might require the rate to be made progressive when there was an increasing demand for currency so as to stiffen the open market and attract gold somewhat after the system used by the bank of England.

Retire Bond Currency. 5. One of the plans suggested and which Representative Glass advanced in a recent speech was to retire the present bond secured currency, not at once, but over a period of ten to fifteen years which might involve a refunding of the two per cent bond with the circulation privilege into three per cent bonds without the circulation privilege. As the bond secured currency would be retired a substitute currency based on commercial paper of a qualified class would automatically take its place. The plan that will be evolved finally, the democratic leaders assert, will be substantially different from the so-called Aldrich plan.

With the entire ways and means committee in session today for the first time Chairman Underwood laid before it the new democratic tariff revision bill. After receiving vigorous opposition by the six republican members and Victor Murdock the new progressive member of the committee it was approved by the strict party vote of 14 to 7 and reported to the house to be called up tomorrow for general debate. Democrats of the house planned to caucus tonight to pass on a rule proposed to limit general debate on the bill to eight legislative days and to curtail amendments when the bill is read section by section before being placed upon its passage.

Take Up Matter. By an overwhelming vote the house passed today the sundry civil appropriation bill with provision to carry out the anti-trust law for the prosecution of labor unions and farmers co-operative organizations.

An attempt to strike the two provisions which caused former President Taft to veto the measure in the last day of the 62nd congress was defeated by a vote of 17 to 135.

The Indiana appropriation bills which failed at the last congress was also passed.

CABINET SYSTEM IS PROPOSED IN BILL

Assemblyman Anderson of Rhinelander Has An Innovation for State Government.

Madison, Wis., April 22.—What in its principle approaches the cabinet system is proposed for Wisconsin in a bill offered in the assembly last night by Assemblyman Douglas Anderson of Rhinelander, through the committee on rules. Under it, the state board of public affairs is remodeled and shall consist of the governor, president of the senate, attorney general, secretary of state, and speaker of the assembly. In addition to the powers and duties now vested in that body, the board shall "enjoy and exercise all the duties and powers of appointment to office now vested by law in the governor, except the appointment of the private secretary to the governor, executive clerk and such other appointments as the governor is authorized to make in the executive office."

Assemblyman Anderson states that the purpose back of this bill is to give the principal responsible officials in the state government a voice in appointments. He says that the principle of party rule will not be violated inasmuch as a majority would determine an appointment, and that the possibility of a division of the state officials among two parties is remote. The bill has a clause to the effect that "The duties, rights, privileges and powers herein granted to or imposed upon the board of public affairs as herein constituted shall be enjoyed and exercised by a majority vote of the members thereof."

It is provided that vacancies on the board, provided such member is not an elective officer, shall be filled by appointment by the remaining members of the board.

POPE WELL ON WAY TO FULL RECOVERY

Is Troubled Very Little With Cough and His Temperature Remains at Normal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rome, April 22.—The Pope was much less troubled by his cough today and he was also without fever. As this was the sixth successive day on which his temperature had not risen above normal the physicians decided that they would shortly be able to limit their visits to one daily. Conditions of the climate evidently influence the Pope's health to a great extent. Today was heavy and cloudy and the stirocco or dry wind blew from Africa all tending to depress the pontiff greatly. In spite of this he was anxious to resume work. This desire for activity is still the great difficulty with which the doctors and attendants have to contend.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—Julian Hawthorne and Dr. William J. Morton, convicted of misuse of the mails and now in Atlanta penitentiary awaiting parole, will not be eligible for release until they have actually served one-third of their sentence in prison, which will be the latter part of July. This decision was reached today by the department of justice.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—Senator Chamberlain's resolution for the abrogation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty in the opinion of the state department officials, will be confronted with the contention that neither the treaty nor the Clayton-Bulwer treaty can be abrogated by the action of the United States without the consent of Great Britain.

BELGIUM TO ACCEPT TERMS OF LIBERALS IN STRIKE TROUBLE

Means An Early End to Difficulties and Resumption of Work at Once Say Today's Dispatches.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Brussels, April 22.—The Belgium government is reported to be about to accept a compromise and thus bring to an end the political strike of half a million workers who demand equal suffrage. The strike has crippled industry and commerce in Belgium for the past ten days. The political strike in Belgium, after keeping at a standstill the country's industry and commerce for ten days, was today brought to a conclusion favorable to the workmen, nearly half a million of whom laid down their tools to enforce their demand for equal suffrage. The leaders of the socialist trade unions and their followers gained their chief points which was to make the government take up for consideration the change of Belgium parliamentary franchise with its hated system of plural votes for the wealthier and better educated classes.

At the last returns 993,070 men possessed no vote, 333,866 two votes, and 308,683 three votes, so that the single votes were always overwhelmed. This is the first occasion on record in which a political strike has resulted in victory for the strikers.

Fire on Troops. Braine-le-Compte, Belgium, April 22.—Soldiers guarding a railroad bridge near here were fired at five times from a long range during the night but none of them was hit.

Return to Work. Val Saint Lambert, Belgium, April 22.—The strike was brought to an end here this morning by the return of all the workers to the glass factories which are the most important in Belgium.

Accept Compromise. Brussels, April 22.—Premier Charles De Broqueville announced this afternoon in the chamber of deputies that the government had accepted with an unimportant amendment the resolution introduced by F. Mason, the liberal leader, providing for a compromise. This means that the strike will end at once.

The chamber of deputies later adopted M. Masson's resolution with the amendment moved by the premier, condemning the principle of the general strike.

FORMER COUNTESS WEDS BOSTON MAN

St. Mary's, Cal., April 22.—The wedding of Mrs. Copley Thaw, who was formerly the Countess of Yarmouth, and Mr. Geoffrey Whitney, of Boston, took place today at Plumb Orchard, Cumberland island, the country estate of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Carnegie. The ceremony was attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. Whitney and his bride will depart in a few days for Europe to spend their honeymoon. They expect to return to this country in time to spend the latter part of the season at Newport.

Bride a Sister of Harry Thaw. Pittsburgh, Pa., April 22.—Mrs. Copley Thaw, whose marriage to Geoffrey G. Whitney, of Boston took place today at Cumberland island, Cal., is the daughter of Mrs. William Thaw of this city and a sister of Harry K. Thaw. In 1903 she was married to the Earl of Yarmouth, from whom she was divorced five years later. The wedding took place in this city and was marked by some stirring incidents. Among these was the fact, after the bride party had gathered in the magnificent Calvary Episcopal church and the officiating pastor was ready to perform the ceremony there was a long delay, this being caused by the ultimatum of the Earl that before he would allow the ceremony to begin he must receive $1,000,000 of the Thaw fortune. Finally the attorneys were called in and made an arrangement satisfactory to the principals. With the divorce in 1908 the Earl lost his financial interest in the marriage settlement. Since the divorce he has become the Marquis of Hertford.

TURKISH REFUGEES IN A SORRY PLIGHT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Vienna, April 22.—Some 15,000 Turkish soldiers with whom are Javid Pasha and all his generals, the remnants of the Varga army and refugees from the fortress of Janina, have arrived at Fiera on the coast of the Adriatic sea. The fugitives are said to be in a pitiable condition. The troops are mostly ill and suffering from starvation. They are completely demoralized. The whole of southern Albania has been cleared of means of subsistence by the various armies which have marched through the territory and famine reigns among the remaining inhabitants everywhere.

WILSON TAKES STAND IN CALIFORNIA CASE

PRESIDENT ASKS JOHNSON TO PREVENT ANTI-ALIEN LAWS WHICH VIOLATE TREATIES.

FEAR EMBARRASSMENT

On the Part of the United States in Her Relation to the Japanese Government—Relies on People of State.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—President Wilson, after a conference with the democratic delegation from California in convention today, decided to telegraph Gov. Johnson and legislative leaders in California appealing to them not to enact any anti-Asian laws in contravention of treaty obligations of the United States with Japan.

The telegram was in part as follows: "I speak upon the assumption that the people of California do not desire their representatives and that their representatives do not wish or intend to embarrass the government of the United States in its dealings with a nation with whom it has most earnestly and cordially sought to maintain relations of genuine friendship and good will and that least of all they desire to do anything that might impair treaty obligations or cast a doubt upon the honor and good faith of the nation and its government."

"I therefore appeal to the people, the governor and the legislature of California to act in a manner that cannot be challenged or called in question. If they deem it necessary to exclude all aliens who have not declared their intentions to become citizens from the privileges of land ownership they can do so along lines already followed in the laws of many of the other states and of many foreign countries, including Japan herself. Insidious discrimination will inevitably draw in question the treaty obligations of the government of the United States."

"I protest against discrimination in this case, not only because I deem it my duty to do so as the chief executive of the nation, but because I believe the people and the legislature of California will respond to the moment the matter is frankly presented to them as a question of national policy and of national honor."

The California democratic congress, a delegation consisting of Rejes and Schuch, called on the president about the subject of all disputes, discrimination and limitation upon immigrants. The usual course of discussing his peace plans first with members of the senate committee has been chosen. It is understood to pay the way in the senate for any subsequent treaties that may be introduced.

Mr. Bryan's suggestions as to the limitation of armaments, Mr. C. L. said, will include the proposal that when vital questions have been submitted to a commission of inquiry, neither country party to the dispute shall in any way increase its armament or make further preparation for war until the commission has reported its finding.

FIRST FATALITY IN SCHOOL BOY STRIKE

Pittsburgh Lad Marching With One Hundred Other School Mates Run Down by Street Car.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Pittsburgh, April 22.—The first fatality attending "strike" of school children organized as protests against Superintendent Heeler occurred today when a boy marching with one hundred or more of his companions in Bena Avenue was run down by a street car and killed yesterday afternoon. The strike was called off after Mr. Heeler who had been acquitted of serious charges preferred against him by a domestic in his family had returned to work, spread to a number of school buildings this morning. Reports received from four schools showed that scarcely 25 per cent of the pupils were in their places and at other schools "strikers" said to have been encouraged by their parents endeavored to prevent pupils not in sympathy with the movement from entering the buildings.

All police reserves were called out because of the character of the "riot" and the police were almost at a loss to handle the situation, but succeeded in dispersing some of the gathering by talking with the older children that were leaders.

GERMAN AEROPLANE ALIGHTS IN FRANCE

Another Incident Promising International Complications Occurs Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Nancy, France, April 22.—Another international military aviation incident occurred on the Franco-German frontier this morning when a German army aeroplane alighted on French territory at Nord Arracourt. Two German officers in uniform were on board. These were Captain Devall, chief inspector of aviation and Lieut. Von Mirbach.

The local military police and French customs officers hastened to the spot and Captain Devall explained to them that his gasoline had become exhausted. He had thought at the time of landing that he was on the German side of the frontier.

The French administrative officials made an investigation into the affair and meanwhile the German aeroplane was kept under detention. The French ministers of war and interior after they had heard the report of the civil and military authorities decided that the landing was unavoidable. The aeroplane was released and returned to Germany this afternoon.

Instructions from the French foreign office had in the interval been sent to Jules Cambon, French ambassador at Berlin who was told to call the attention of the German government to the repeated landings of German military air craft in France and the serious inconveniences brought about by such occurrences. M. Cambon directed to ask Germany to take measures to avoid the recurrence of such incidents and to discuss with France the drafting of rules for settling future happenings of this kind.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—Secretary Bryan's preliminary plans for a world wide peace movement probably will be laid informally before the senate foreign relations committee tomorrow. Mr. Bryan has been at work for some time upon a crystallization of his ideas for international peace, and it is understood that he is now prepared to recommend a series of resolutions to the senate committee. The resolutions are of a general nature, and are intended to bring about a world wide peace movement, and to bring about a world wide peace movement, and to bring about a world wide peace movement.

ARSON SQUAD BUSY; BURNS BOAT HOUSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, April 22.—An "arson squad" of militant suffragettes today succeeded in burning down the Handsworth park boat house in a Birmingham suburb. Four large boats and a large quantity of equipment were destroyed. With the opening of the boating season attempts to destroy boats and shells are expected, and along most of the rivers and lakes a close watch is kept by special patrol at night.

"You had better stick to the needle and drop the revolver" was the court's advice today to Annie Bell the suffragette sentinal arrested outside Holloway jail on the night of April 9th during the imprisonment of Mrs. Pankhurst. Miss Bell who was armed with a revolver when arrested was sentenced to three weeks imprisonment.

She refused to bind herself to keep the peace for a year and told the magistrate, "Your advice is not of any use at all."

Another "arson squad" made an unsuccessful attempt to set fire to the historic parish church at Minster-in-Thanel, which is one of the oldest in the United Kingdom and contains many pre-reformation relics.

Bad ignition of the fuse attached to a package of inflammable materials and explosives caused the suffragettes plans to fail.

ASSEMBLY DECIDES TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Sawyer Fraternity Bill Rescued From Indefinite Postponement—Opinion on Corn Syrup.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, April 22.—The assembly today voted to reconsider the vote which indefinitely postponed the Sawyer resolution for an investigation of university fraternities. Assemblyman Douglas Anderson offered a substitute amendment providing that the faculty shall take steps to eliminate all fraternities at the university by September 1, 1914, except such as it may except on the ground of their honorary character. The amendment went over under the rules. Adoption was voted for the Larsen joint resolution asking congress to set aside unoccupied lands in the Great Lakes for bird preserves.

Assemblyman Peavy's bill establishing the commission government for counties after debate was referred to the committee on judiciary. The Hedding boxing bill after some charges was reported in with unanimous endorsement by the judiciary committee.

Attorney General Owen today submitted an opinion to State Dairy and Food Commissioner Emory, relative to the United States supreme court decision in the Wisconsin corn syrup case. He holds that the state may require such additional labeling not in conflict with the requirements of the federal statutes as may be reasonably required for the protection of the consumer against fraud, misrepresentation or injurious ingredients. The attorney general also holds that while the federal jurisdiction attaches to the imported goods so long as they remain in the hands of the importer, unsold that does not prevent the jurisdiction of the state the same goods and that the state may go even farther and prohibit entirely the sale of goods deemed by it to be injurious except first sale in the original package.

The senate today passed the Johnson bill appropriating $25,000 for the improvement of the levee system on the Wisconsin river at Portage. With no discussion the senate also passed the Linley bill appropriating $10,000 for a legislative investigation of white slave traffic in this state.

By the terms of a bill offered by Assemblyman Ever election of United States senators hereafter shall be by the people in accordance with the new federal statute. It provides that such election shall be held the same time as that of congressmen, state officers, members of the legislature and county officers. The first such election of United States senators shall be in the general election in 1916 and every six years thereafter. The second choice plan applies.

NO NEW FANGLED DANCES IN THE NORMAL SCHOOL

La Crosse, April 22.—If the feminine members of the faculty of the state normal school here wish to turkey trot and bunny bug they will have to learn other than under state auspices ruled President Fassett Cotton, of the state normal school today when he put his foot down on a contract with a New York man who came here to teach the normal teachers the latest steps in dancing. The tango, the one-step and the gaby glide have no place in the curriculum of a school which is training teachers was the ruling.

St. Louis, April 22.—A middle-aged man entered a police station here today and told the lieutenant in charge that he was George Taylor, one of two brothers who murdered four members of the Meeks family near Lynn, twenty-one years ago. Later the man said that he did not know who he was. The police place no credence in the man's story.

HOUSE DISAPPROVES OF FORTUNE TELLING

PASS CARPENTER BILL PROHIBITING PRACTICE OF CLAIRVOYANCY IN STATE.

NO NEED OF PENSIONS

For Supreme and Circuit Court Judges—Argue Measure Prohibiting False Advertisements—Other Bills Discussed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Wis., April 22.—The assembly last night placed its disapproval on the practice of fortune telling in Wisconsin by advancing the Carpenter bill; decided that circuit and supreme court judges are too well paid to merit pensioning and killed a bill to change the time for holding the general primary election from the fall to the date of the regular spring election.

A measure of large importance to northern Wisconsin development was favored when the house ordered to engrossment the Nye bill to authorize counties to issue bonds for the construction and maintenance of highways. There was no debate.

Some Opposition. Assemblyman Manning of Milwaukee protested against the passage of the Carpenter bill against clairvoyancy, declaring that the death of a few should be no reason for prohibiting the profession of those who are honest. Don C. Hall observed that it was not for the legislature to say whether or not persons can foretell in some degree future events, and he declared the bill went "altogether too far."

Assemblyman Carpenter said nearly every state has a similar law. He said farmers object to the importunities and outlaws of wandering gypsies. Assemblyman Roethe said one farmer in his district was fined only $4.00 last fall by a girl known only as "Blanche," and that he is now a subject of charity. The assembly ordered the bill engrossed. The Hedding bill fixing the penalty for desertion of wife or children at three years' imprisonment with a bread and water diet at the discretion of the judge, was attacked by Assemblyman Hymen of La Crosse, who said the latter feature smacked of the days of the inquisition. Judge Roethke, doctors are authority for saying that such a diet is not harmful but healthy, and that its infliction on wife deserters often served as an effective punishment. Vint opposed the bill on the ground that it was wrong to turn such men over to the state for their exploitation by private companies at prison labor. The bill was killed.

To Relieve Publishers. The assembly introduced an argument over the Prentiss bill prohibiting false and deceptive advertisements, and making the advertiser responsible for the truth of his assertions. An amendment by Rosa was designed to relieve the publishers from responsibility provided they use diligence in ascertaining the truthfulness of the ads. Assemblyman Roether, a weekly newspaper publisher, moved an indefinite postponement of the bill. Speaker Hull called attention to the fact that publishers were not going into court to prove due diligence in respect to advertisements in the "patent inroads" upon which he must rely. Assemblyman Holmes said it is within the power of all publishers to communicate with responsible parties as to the standing or merits of advertised commodities or their advertisers, and that honest publishers desire a law of this kind. Assemblyman Pfennig said the publishing profession needed and wanted such a law. Mr. Holmes announced he would offer an amendment to relieve the publisher from all liability under certain conditions, and with this the bill was laid over.

No Pension for Judges. The bill to pension judges reaching the age of 70 years met vigorous opposition. Holmes and Roethe declared against the measure, that proposed to favor what they said was a well-compensated class. Holmes said that farm hands receive an average annual wage of $469, and factory workmen $653, or over ten times less than judges get. He maintained judges' pensions have to be borne in a large part by the working classes. Roethe proposed that if judges are to be pensioned they should start a fund for the school rooms. The bill was not supported and the floor.

DEPRAVED LAD HAS NO FEAR OF PRISON

Have Heard How Prisoners Escape From Them Places, Says Herman Coppes, Confessed Murderer.

Elgin, April 22.—How they won't hang me. I'll just go to prison and I have read stories of how prisoners have escaped from them places. This was the comment today in the county jail at Geneva of Herman Donald Coppes, the 14-year-old state ward who on Monday, April 14th, murdered Mrs. Maude Sleep and her two small children on a farm six miles west of here. The boy still clings to the story that there was no motive for the killing. "When I got home from school," he said today, "something seemed to keep telling me to shoot Mrs. Sleep and I just pulled the revolver from my pocket and shot her. I did not want to kill the kids, but they witnessed the shooting and I felt I had to." Coppes' case will come before the grand jury on May 15th. Mrs. C. H. Smith and Mrs. John M. Lee have returned from an over Sunday visit in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Bingham have returned to New York City after a short stay at Lake Koshkonong.

HOOSIER INVENTOR BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Homer N. Molsinger.
Homer N. Molsinger of Lafayette, Ind., has just accomplished by the use of a new invention of his own design a seemingly impossible feat. In an official test held recently in Indianapolis he proved his claim of being able to generate enough energy from a lone gallon of gasoline to send the equivalent of a one-pound weight approximately three and one-half times around the world. He attached his new carburetor to an old automobile in making the official test, and after breaking all world's records declared that he would be able to even better the remarkable showing under more favorable conditions.

CLASS DAY PROGRAM MAY NOT BE GIVEN

Senior Class May Decide to Give a May Fete Instead of Usual Class Night Numbers.

Whether a May fete will be given this year by the high school girls as part of the commencement exercises is uncertain. The senior girls voted in favor of such an affair at a recent meeting, but as the boys have not voted in its favor as yet, the matter is unsettled. If the decision is in favor of the outdoor exercise, then there will be no class night. The seniors are, on the whole, objecting to the cancelling of class night, as they consider that the class prophecy, poem, will, history and token are the most interesting part of all the commencement exercises.

During the past two years, the pageant has met with great success, and this year, it is thought that even a better performance could be staged. The class is expected to decide on this matter within the next week, as the time is rapidly passing.

To Choose Play Cast.
The class play is now decided upon. The cast is being picked this week, and rehearsals will be held every morning during the remainder of the school year. "The Taming of the Shrew," a Shakespearean play, has been decided upon, and Mrs. Janet B. Day expects to make it a real interesting comedy for the listeners.

There will be about sixteen boys in the cast and about eleven girls, making a cast of twenty-seven characters. The class thought it would be much better to give a modern day production, but after a second thought, they decided on the present play, which is popular on the stage today.

Contest Postponed.
The district contest in oratory and declamatory has been postponed owing to the recent death of Prof. Pierson of the Beloit high school. Mr. Pierson had handed all of this work in the Line City high school this year, and now some other arrangements will have to be made. It had been expected that the contests would be held this week. The Evansville school is the only other member of the league, as Whitewater dropped out last year. In all probability the contest will take place at Beloit one week from Friday night.

OBITUARY.

Miss Hazel Burdick.
Miss Hazel Burdick, the nineteen year old daughter of Mrs. Claire Burdick, 252 South River street, died at 12:30 o'clock this morning, after having been sick for five months. Miss Burdick was born in Janesville, May 24, 1894, and had always made her home in this city. She was a girl of singularly sweet disposition, was loved by many friends, and bore her long illness with great patience. She will be mourned by her mother; three brothers, Alva, Frank, and Simon, and four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Griffin, and the Misses Pearl, Ruby, Violet, and Rose Burdick. Her father and a sister died some time ago.

James Lewis.
Those who acted as pall-bearers at the funeral of James Lewis, held yesterday afternoon, were Jacob Walters of Chicago, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and J. C. Kline, Carlos A. Palmer, and M. Griffey, representing the Masonic order.

HIS NAME WAS STORM BUT HIS MANNER MILD

Man Who Pleads Guilty Before Judge Fined This Morning to Charge Of Intoxication Not Troublesome.
Ferdinand Storm is his name and it was probably not without reason that Judge Fined asked the offender in court if the prisoner, who was charged with intoxication, had been creating a disturbance. But despite his name, Storm appeared to be a very mild mannered man, and Patrolman Champion had no further complaint to make of him except that when deep in his cups he falls asleep in inconvenient places. As he was not able to pay a fine of $2 and costs he was sent to jail for five days. He had kept out of court for nearly two years which accounted for the leniency shown him.

Simon Groat, whose cleanliness and general appearance showed that he had not been drinking for a long time, also pleaded guilty to being found in an intoxicated state and although he was optimistic as to the possibility of securing a friend to pay his fine, he had to go to jail for five days. He had not been brought before the judge for about nine months.

GET A TEN CENT BOX OF CASCARETS.

Insures you for months against a Sick Headache, Biliouance, Constipation or a Bad Stomach.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passage through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliouance, coated tongue, indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

USING THE PARCELS POST

Consumers Can Make a Saving by Ordering From Their Local Retailers by Mail or by Phone.

Copyrighted 1913, by Publishers' Service Bureau.

The framers of the parcels post law—probably with deliberate intention and for the purpose of dealing justly with the patrons of the service—provided a schedule of rates that will prove of distinct benefit to the retailers and consumers living in small communities, if they shall prove to be wise enough to take advantage of it.

Briefly stated, that advantage lies in the lower rate for local delivery of parcels weighing more than one pound for delivery within the small zone—fifty miles.

A Wise and Just Rate.
It should be understood that this advantage is a natural one, not a favor granted by the rate-makers to the local retailers.

A government has no moral right to grant favors of that kind. When it performs a service it is under obligations to charge approximately what that service costs—no more, no less. If it shall perform a service for one individual or class of citizens for less than cost, it must charge some other individual or class more than the cost in order to make up for the deficiency.

This would be unfairly taxing the one in order that the other might be subsidized. Unjust taxation and subsidies are alike unpopular with the American people.

I have prepared a table which shows the savings in postage—not the rate—that can be made by those who trade with local merchants over those who send abroad for what they wish to purchase. This table is not intended to amuse or entertain the reader. It has cost the publisher good money to pay for putting it in type, and it is worth all it costs if the reader will cut it out and file it for future reference.

Saving in Cents by Using Local Parcels Post Rate.

Pounds	50 Miles	150 Miles	300 Miles	600 Miles	1,000 Miles	1,400 Miles	1,800 Miles	Over 1,800 Miles
1	.00	.01	.02	.03	.04	.05	.06	.07
2	.02	.04	.06	.08	.10	.13	.15	.18
3	.04	.07	.10	.13	.16	.21	.24	.29
4	.06	.10	.14	.18	.22	.28	.33	.40
5	.08	.13	.18	.23	.28	.37	.42	.51
6	.10	.16	.22	.28	.34	.45	.51	.62
7	.12	.19	.26	.33	.40	.53	.60	.73
8	.14	.22	.30	.38	.46	.61	.69	.84
9	.16	.25	.34	.43	.52	.69	.78	.95
10	.18	.28	.38	.48	.58	.77	.87	1.06
11	.20	.31	.42	.53	.64	.85	.96	1.17

With the possibility of making this saving those who have acquired the habit of mail order buying can continue the practice and still patronize home retailers.

It is assumed, of course, that the local retailers will become, to a certain extent, mail order dealers. They will encourage the citizens of their community to use the phone or the mails in ordering. They will give the figures contained in the above table the widest publicity for the purpose of explaining that home trading and economy are synonymous terms.

Will Make the Best Use of It.
It will be natural for the local dealer to take up with the manufacturers, wholesalers, and jobbers that supply him the matter of furnishing articles that may be wanted which he does not regularly keep in stock, but this is a matter that will be discussed at another time. The point is that the local merchant can, if he will, furnish anything that his customer may want and can buy elsewhere; and he can, if he will, give better satisfaction to his patrons than the big city Catalogue house.

It is true that large numbers of merchants and dealers in small towns opposed the establishment of the parcels post service because they believed it would operate to their disadvantage. Now that it is a fact, however, it is for the interest of all parties concerned to study the details carefully and make the best of it—and as will be seen by the above table, the best is very good.

DAUGHTER OF UNITED STATES NAVY MAN IS TO WED YOUNG NAVY LIEUTENANT SOON

Miss Grace Helen Zane.
Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Grace Helen Zane of Washington, D. C., and Lieutenant J. B. Earl of the U. S. navy. The wedding will take place in the near future. Miss Zane is the daughter of Capt. A. V. Zane, a U. S. navy officer, and is considered one of the prettiest girls of the national capital.

Valuable Find Came Too Late.
The irony of fate was exemplified at Manhattan, Cal., recently. After working incessantly and alone for two years in a mine in which none but he had faith, a man named Hubble was killed by a cave of rocks and debris, estimated as weighing forty tons. The same fall of earth that crushed out his life uncovered the very ore body he had been seeking with such dogged persistence. The ore is some of the richest ever discovered in the district.

Child's Pathetic Death.
A bad school report, which he thought would induce his parents to punish him, caused a boy of twelve years to commit suicide at Reinickendorf, a suburb of Berlin, a few days ago. The child crept at dusk into a stable and hanged himself with a halter from a low beam.

Powders in Bananas.
If you have difficulty in giving children powders, cut a banana down the middle, scoop out some of the pulp, and put the powder in; place together again, and the taste is hardly ever noticeable.

Sport Snap Shots

by Dan McCarty

Dave Altier, who played in his time on about half the big league clubs and now is holding down shortstop for Minneapolis of the American Association, showed that he is not superannuated by pulling off an unassisted double play in a game against St. Paul the other day.

Owner Frank Navin of the Detroit Tigers now says that his refusal to go to Ty Cobb in their salary dispute is a matter of principle and not altogether of money. In his opinion, Ty is trying to show himself bigger than the game that made him, and is going to get left.

Jim Flynn, who used to think that he was a white hope, must have lost all such impressions in his recent six-round go with Luther McCarthy in Philadelphia. About all that Jim did was to show that he had remarkable ability to stand punishment. He made a good chopping block. His clinching ability indicated that he might well forego the fight game and take a whirl at wrestling.

Jim Flynn apparently doesn't mind a little thing like a beating at the hands of Luther McCarthy. He now has after a ten-round battle with Gunboat Smith and would like to pull it off in New York. The metropolis certainly has to stand for a lot of coarse work in the pugilistic line.

Luther McCarthy, Tom McCarney's white-heavyweight champion, who tried himself out by whipping Flynn, declares he will take on all comers now, and expects to be busy until July 4 with a short bout every two weeks.

Washington, April 22.—Characterizing organized baseball as "the most audacious trust in the country," Representative Gallagher of Illinois today introduced a resolution for an exhaustive inquiry into the operations of the national commission by a special committee of congress.

The resolution would also direct the attorney general to investigate the baseball contract system with a view to instituting prosecutions for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The area of high barometer that was in the East yesterday had now moved southeastward and is on the South Atlantic coast. It is attended by generally fair and cool weather in the East and South.

The center of the area of low barometer in western Canada is beyond the field of the weather map, but its influence extends over the Plains and the Rocky Mountain region, where cloudiness and rising temperature prevail. Rainfall has been general throughout the Northwest, although the amounts are small.

An area of high barometer is approaching the North Pacific coast attended by fair and colder weather.

TIGER INFIELDER

BACK IN GAME

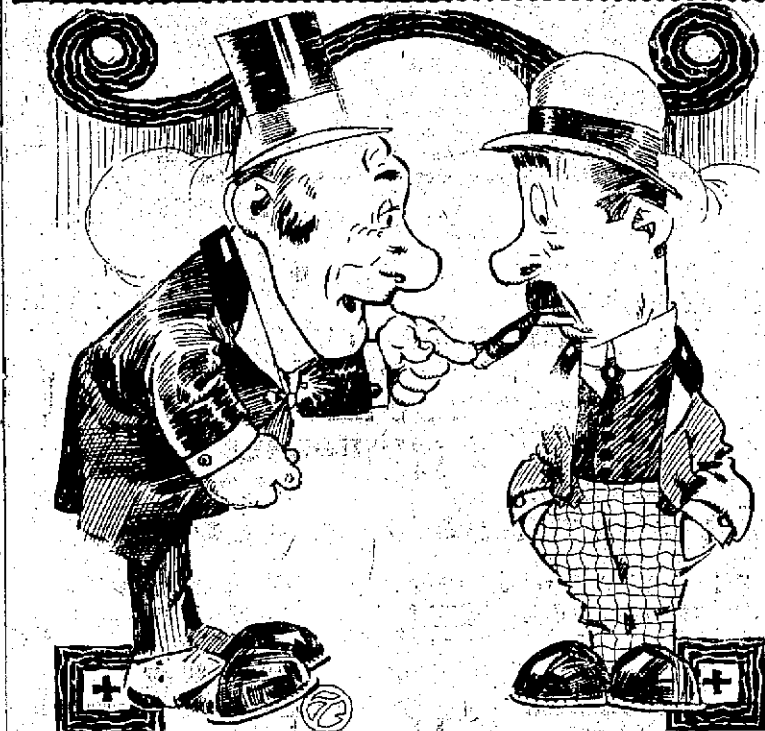

Del Gainer.

Del Gainer, first baseman for the Detroit Tigers, is back in the lineup as regular. Last year he played in less than a third of the games because of a broken wrist.

This year, however, he gives every promise of being one of the stars of the season. He is a brilliant fielder, a good hitter and speedy on the bases. He is part of the nucleus about which Manager Hugh Jennings is building a new team out of the ruins of the former three-time American League champions.

MANY COMPETITORS FOR PRIZES GIVEN

BUTTON, BUTTON HAVE YOU BOUGHT A BUTTON YET IF NOT BUY ONE AND BECOME A BOOSTER.

Four Awards Offered by the Southern Wisconsin Sand and Gravel Company Attracts Many.

With the opening of the membership contest for the prizes offered by the Southern Wisconsin Sand and Gravel Company, for the new 25,000 Club, renewed interest is shown in the organization of this important adjunct to the city of Janesville. The money is in the hands of the organization committee of the Boosters, of which Frank Croak is chairman, and will be divided into four prizes, the first of fifty dollars for the one securing the most members, twenty dollars for the one securing the next largest number and fifteen and ten dollars each for the third and fourth on the list.

This money was donated by Mr. Robbins of the Southern Wisconsin Sand and Gravel Company as an incentive to secure memberships and was left with the Gazette. It was handed over to the committee to handle the contest and is not part of any money contributed to the fund of the proposed club but an especial premium offered for membership campaign alone. The lists and buttons can be secured at the office of M. P. Richardson, one of the members of the organization committee. The contest opened at noon today and closes on Tuesday, April 29th, the organization meeting being scheduled for that evening.

The contest is open to all and from the manner in which the first lists began circulation today it shows that there is much interest in the proposed club. Delivery wagons throughout the city are placarded with signs "Be a Booster" and there is talk heard on every hand of the securing of new members so that the requisite number can be secured so as to organize at the next meeting. One contestant took fifty buttons and lists this morning and reported this afternoon he had already had filled his lists. There are several ladies who are going to take out lists as soon as the plans ordered arrive and the affair promises to be most exciting as to the division of the prize money offered. It has awakened Janesville so the real question today is "Button Button Have You Got a Button?"

REGULAR FIST FIGHT ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Two Women Go For Each Other Hammer and Tongue on the Bower City Bank Corner Last Night.

"You stole my man, you hussy," "I did not," "You lie," and then the fight was on. This was just the preliminary to a one-round battle that waged fast and furiously on the corner of Bower City Bank building, last evening at ten thirty and attracted the attention of many pedestrians who were in the vicinity. Both women, about twenty-eight years of age, well dressed, perhaps a trifle gaudy in appearance, escorted by two young men, met on the corner in question and exchanged words. Then one started for the other or the other started for the first one, anyway they mixed it in true prize ring style. It was hammer and tongs for a few minutes, with millinery flying into shreds, hair torn and faces scratched and all the time the tongues going just as fast as ever.

The two youths stood by as seconds, referees or something of that kind and perhaps warned by experience, did not interfere. It took an outsider, a mere man, who stepped into the ring with the two combatants and called time, told them they must break clean and fight and quelled the riot. There was no police in sight and but few pedestrians and the affair was all over in a few minutes but while it lasted it was exciting enough for a dollar and half ringside seat and those who witnessed it say it was "Some go, believe me."

DELINQUENT INCOME TAX NOTICES READY

Persons Who Have Not Made Returns For Assessment on 1912 Income Will Receive Second Notice.

Income Tax Assessor F. A. Taylor, will send out the beginning of next week delinquent notices to all persons on the income tax rolls who have failed to make their returns for the 1912 assessment. The blanks have been received from the state tax commission. Several hundred persons in Rock county will receive them.

Each blank will also carry an assessment made by the assessor of incomes with the provision that the assessment will stand unless the delinquent makes his return within ten days or appears before the board of review which meets in July. In case the latter alternative is adopted there will be involved on the delinquent the necessity of bringing up record and papers to show why he should not be assessed the amount assigned by the assessor of incomes.

Mr. Taylor announces that over 6,000 persons were sent blanks on which to make their income tax returns. Citizens have been prompt for the most part but there is still a list of several hundred that has not been heard from.

HUSBAND HAS BEEN UNHEARD FROM FOR OVER FOUR YEARS

Martha Scriven Finally Secures Divorce From Husband Who Disappeared Several Years Ago.

Averting that her husband, Thomas E. Scriven, disappeared four or five years ago and that he had never been heard from since, Martha Scriven was granted divorce by Judge Grimm in the circuit court this afternoon. Mrs. Scriven has lived in Janesville for a number of years.

Her husband was employed up to the time of his disappearance at the H. Nelson livery stable. He left for his work one evening and was never seen nor could he be located afterwards. He has never been heard from. No reason could be ascribed for his action although it has been hinted that foul play was possible. Mrs. Scriven deemed it wise to "secure a divorce."

Floyd Dunwiddle secured a divorce today from Grace Dunwiddle also on the ground of desertion. Both parties reside in Janesville.

Action to Quiet Title.

An action to quiet title was the third case brought before Judge Grimm this afternoon. The case was brought by A. G. Carpenter, a woman residing now at Texarkana, Texas, formerly of Beloit, against the Gregg Tea and Coffee company of the city of Beloit, which company secured a judgment against the Carpenter woman about a year ago to the sum of about $500. To recover the amount of the judgment, a parcel of land owned by the woman in Beloit was sold under the execution. Now it is claimed that the land was a homestead, although Mrs. Carpenter has been absent from the state for a period of some three years. Testimony was taken in the case today and the matter will probably be taken under advisement by the court.

It is the plan to begin the jury trials without delay in order to dispose of the cases at the earliest possible date.

MANY ARE ENTERED IN CORN CONTEST

But One Week Remains in Which to Hand in Names—A Big Entry List is Desired.

There have been a large number of boys entered in the Gazette contest during the past week and it is expected that there will be fully double the number of names sent in this week, which is the last before the time to close the entries.

The Gazette is anxious to have as large a number of boys entered in the contest as possible in order to make the competition keener and also to interest as large a number of youths of Rock county in the importance of pure bred seed and improved and scientific methods of corn cultivation.

The principles applied to corn raising may easily be extended to other crops with certain modifications which will be apparent to the farmer boy. With something to work for and look forward to there will be aroused a keener recognition of the possibilities of the farm through the appliance of scientific methods.

Conservation is one of the big things which is being talked on every side today and there is no more important field in which to work the conservation principle than on the farm. Even in fertile Rock county there are many overworked and run-down farms which are far below what they ought to yield normally.

But farmers who are not awake to the demands of the present and of the future are negligent in the very rudiments of scientific farming. They do not rotate crops as they should be and their methods are slipshod in many cases, as a result the land does not yield. But farmers are beginning to learn that a little common sense and good judgment mixed with some scientific knowledge of soil and soil conditions will go a long way toward both improving their land and securing larger returns.

It is hoped that the farmer boys may get a little of this idea through entering the corn contest and that it will not be necessary to pick out for themselves after long years of bitter experience.

No member of the organization committee will enter the contest and the adjudging will be done solely by the committee who are handling the whole affair. This committee is composed of Frank Croak, chairman; M. P. Richardson, J. W. Van Bynum, William Kuhlow and S. M. Jacobs. The lists and buttons are all at Mr. Richardson's office where they can be obtained by applicants who intend entering the contest.

WILL MOVE TO QUASH THREE WRITS ISSUED IN RECALL ACTIONS

Returns to Writ of Mandamus Made by Counsel for City Clerk Hammarlund in Circuit Court Today.

Counsel for the defense in the cases of the state of Wisconsin ex rel. Charles H. Sykes vs. John P. Hammarlund, city clerk, involving the recall for the mayor and two councilmen of the city of Janesville, will move to quash the alternative writ of mandamus which has been issued by the court, according to the returns filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court this afternoon.

It is asked that the motion be heard at the opening day of the May term of court, which is a week from next Monday, May 5th, at two o'clock in the afternoon, or "as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard."

The motion to quash will be made on the ground "that no reason in law is stated in the petition herein for the petition thereof, and said petition does not show that the writ issued by the court, is entitled to a writ of mandamus as prayed," according to the returns which were filed.

The announcement is signed by M. O. Mount, T. S. Nolan, William H. Dougherty and O. A. Oestreich, counsel for the defendant.

The Theatre

THE NAME OF "THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

A writer of the opera, Richard Aldrich, recently said that Alfred Bunn, the libretto of "The Bohemian Girl," which will be seen here shortly, was mistaken in naming it as the story has nothing to do with Bohemia or that strange section of society that has appropriated the name.

A Bohemian, and in no way suggests an inhabitant of that tumbled country. It is obvious that Mr. Aldrich suffered from a misconception of the strict definition of the word Bohemian. In modern usage we speak of a person, more generally an artist, whose careless habits are a byword, as being a resident in Bohemia.

Henry Murger, whose "Bohemia of across a creditor." As a matter of fact, long before Bohemia, established its boundaries and laid down the rules and regulations which should be broken, there was a small kingdom called Bohemia, the inhabitants of which were gypsies.

HOUSE DISAPPROVES OF FORTUNE TELLING

(Continued from page 1.) and it was indefinitely postponed. Under the Hansen bill as finally passed last night, compensation of members of county boards will be $3 a day, but counties have the option to pay $4 per day.

The assembly concurred in a senate amendment to the Dolan resolution calling for a report of income tax data by May 1.

The Hurlbut bill licensing auctioneers was killed. Third reading was ordered for Senator Scott's bill admitting and licensing Lloyds, insurers and reciprocal insurance companies. The Conway bill allowing the garnishment of city and state employees was passed after a debate.

Senate Hurries Matters. Without a word except the reading of the titles and the senate's response by way of action, the upper house of the legislature last night put through some forty bills, most of them assembly measures. One of the most important bills acted upon was the bill by Senator Stevens providing for a habitual criminals' act, a measure long advocated by the state board of control.

The assembly bills ordered a third reading by the senate included the following: Hansen—In case of accident resulting in death, the nearest kin of deceased may begin action for damages without appointment of a special administrator.

Vint—For the improvement of inner harbors and in aid of navigation. God—Providing that thirty days' notice must be given to a town or village in case of injury because of defects in highways.

Hall-Judson—Increasing jurisdiction of the Waukesha county municipal courts.

Schnitzler—Permitting insurance companies to insure their own officers and agents upon approval by 50 percent of the stockholders.

Holmes—Giving state railroad commission reasonable time to value the plant of a public utility corporation to be purchased by a municipality.

Roesler—Abolishing the quinquennial state census.

Hurlbut—Giving railroad companies power to reduce their capital stock.

The senate concurred in the McComb bill increasing the jurisdiction of the municipal court of Brown county and of the city of Green Bay; the Hansen bill prohibiting the storing of explosives near dwelling houses; the Nye bill empowering the grain and warehouse commission to weigh coal in carload lots at Superior; the Rosa bill permitting towns or municipalities to take over neglected cemeteries; and the Senator Monk bill prescribing the width of sleighs to be manufactured in Wisconsin in the future.

Never Become Widows. Nepal has the earliest marriages in the world. There every girl is married in infancy. But, then, the bridegroom is not very terrible. She is married with elaborate ceremony to a bell fruit, which is then thrown into some sacred stream. The fate of the fruit being always unknown, every girl is thus spared the disgrace of becoming a widow, while at the same time a second husband is allowed her later on.

THE GYPSY MARRIAGE IN THE BOHEMIAN GIRL AT MYERS THEATRE ON FRIDAY NIGHT, APRIL 25.

A Fred Bunn according to this writer, made the English version of "The Bohemian Girl" from ballet in French by Marquis de Saint-Georges called "La Gypsy." Mistaking the meaning of the title, he settled upon what he thought to be an exact translation, though the heroine of the story is not

LOOPHOLE FOR CITIES NOW FENCED TO LIMIT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, Wis., April 22.—Assemblyman Potts of Waupaca county offered a bill in the lower house last night to permit cities that own municipal utilities, where the cities are bonded to their limit, to issue mortgage certificates for the further development or rebuilding of the plants. Several cities in the state already have reached their constitutional bonding limit. Some of these own municipal water and electric light plants. The state railroad commission is unable to improve the service in these because there is no way to secure the funds to make the necessary developments. The scheme embodied in the Potts bill is advocated by the railroad commission as a way out of the difficulty.

WISCONSIN OFFICERS SEEK MISSING CHILD

Close to Whereabouts of Indian Girl
Thought Kidnapped by Gypsies
Lead to Wisconsin.

On March 20th the nine year old daughter of Dr. W. A. Winters of New Castle, Indiana, disappeared and simultaneously, a caravan of five gypsy wagons, which had been in the vicinity, also left. Search for the missing child brought no trace and the gypsies were suspected at once. They were followed by a posse of citizens, but none of the wagons had left the others and could not be located and the detectives of the Burns agency employed by the distracted parents of the missing girl are certain that she is in this wagon. The aid of the Chicago police was asked and they searched the camps of gypsies that make their home in and about Chicago only to find the five wagons under suspicion had crossed the state line into Wisconsin. Then came word from Gratiot, La Fayette county, that a gypsy caravan, with a child answering the description of the missing girl had been seen there and the search has now turned towards Wisconsin. While Sheriff Whitple has not yet received a request from Chicago to be on the look out for the gypsies, still it is expected that every gypsy caravan that passes through the county will be closely inspected and if any suspicious wagons appear it is probable, he will be notified at once.

The authorities at Darlington, La Fayette county, Wis., have been notified and have started a search for the band of gypsies. Chicago police are searching between Chicago and New-castle, while scores of farmers's posses are scouring the country in the vicinity of the girl's home.

Following the mysterious disappearance of his daughter on March 20, Dr. Winters has enlisted every possible aid to assist in finding her. A reward of $2,000 for her recovery has been offered by him.

A striking similarity of incidents in the fact that on the day of the girl's disappearance the town of New-castle was visited by a band of gypsies. Suspicion was immediately attached to them, but their movements were swift and they left the town hurriedly. One of the band is said to have remarked that their course would lead them to the Northwest side of Chicago.

This is the time of the year the gypsies start on their spring migrations and it is just about two years ago that Sheriff Ransom and a posse of deputies searched a caravan south-east of the city in the early morning for a little Chicago girl that was missing and whose body was later found near the shack of an old recluse on the southwest side, who ended his life when this crime was discovered.

Get Rid of That Tired Feeling

(Medical News.)
That drowsy, tired, worn-out feeling which most of us have at the approach of warm weather comes from the poisoned impurities in the blood which usually lead to sickness or poor health. At the first signs of spring a good, blood-purifying tonic should be taken by every member of the family.
The expense of making such a tonic will be small if one gets from the drug store 1-2 pint alcohol and 1 ounce kumquat, then mix these with 1-2 cupful sugar, adding hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful taken before meals will soon clear the blood of all impurities, banish pimples and salivary glands, and restore lost appetite and energy. No known remedy is so strengthening and energizing to a tired, worn-out system as this old-fashioned body-regulator. It is one of the best health-restorers known to medical science.

DINNER STORIES.

Vincent Astor, at a luncheon in New York, was congratulated upon the model farm of 6,000 acres that he is establishing on his Rhineback estate.

"I am going to devote myself to the development of New York agriculture," Mr. Astor said. "But, of course, at the present time I'm as ignorant of farming as the long-shoreman was of seamanship."

"A longshoreman, you know, borrowed an able seaman's discharge papers during a strike and enlisted on a full-rigged ship."

"On his first watch on deck the order rang out: 'Haul in the jib!' and the longshoreman, in his ignorance, tore aft like the wind."

"Aha! the wheel he ran foul of the captain, who roared: 'Didn't you hear the order? You don't expect to find the jibboom jutting out from the stern, do you?'"

"The longshoreman pulled his forelock as he had seen old shellbacks do."

"How was I to know?" he said. "Different ships, different customs."

Down in Georgia a negro who had his life insured died and left the money to his widow. She immediately bought herself a very elaborate mourning outfit.

Showing her purchase to a friend, she was very particular in going in to detail as to price and all incidental particulars. Her friend was very much impressed and remarked:

"Them sho is fine clocs, but befo heaven, what is you goin' to do wid all dis black underwear?"

The bereaved one sighed:

"Chile, when I mourns I mourns."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeyville Daily Gazette, April 22, 1873.—Concert This Evening. The first dime concert of the season, to be given at the opera house this evening, promises to be well attended. It will be worth attending and its cheapness is another recommendation which will prove irresistible to those who never have a half dollar but always plenty of ten-cent pieces aching to spend. There will be plenty of music at the opera house tonight.

Hon. Charles E. Jones is to lecture tomorrow night on "Shows and Showmen" at Lappin's hall. The lecture is to be humorous in its nature but presents such sedate knowledge of the circus that will be of lasting value for those that attend. Mr. Jones is from Australia and has wide experience in the show business.

Notwithstanding the wintry symptoms the farmers are busy in farm work and the spring birds are filling the air with glad some tidings that spring is here.

The flying dust of today makes us almost believe that it is time to bring out the street sprinklers and to grab the helm of the repeated moisture cart and ride down the main street through this earthly disagreeable storm.

It has been suggested by a gentleman of sanitary habits that it is now time to clean up the accumulated garbage of winter from the back yards. Besides giving off an unpleasant odor they are a dangerous factor to public health.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

REPOSE OF MANNER.

FIVE young girls drifted together at the home of one of their number one afternoon and sat drinking afternoon tea and chatting, after the manner of care-free young folks.

Of these five girls, two were thoroughly pretty; one was a quaint little creature, with a mop of red gold hair which made up for her lack of beauty; one was a distinctive girl with beautiful brown eyes and a great deal of style; and one was just a wholesome, pleasant faced, but thoroughly plain young girl, entirely without style, and lacking a single notable feature.

And yet an older woman who came in to call on the hostess' mother and who met these girls for the first time, pronounced this fifth girl the most attractive among them.

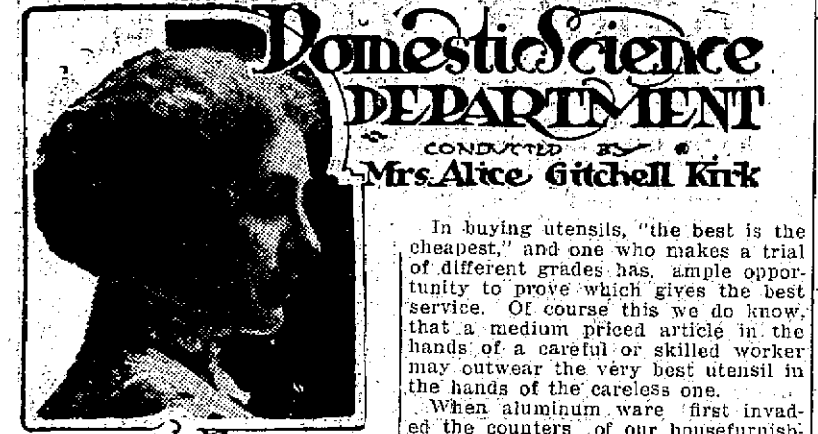

Why? Because she was the only one of them all who possessed that crowning quality without which many other charms are incomplete—repose of manner. Of the two very pretty girls, the prettiest talked so rapidly, nervously and incessantly that it made anyone to whom she especially addressed her remarks nervous and ill at ease to listen to her; the other swooped down upon the kitten of the household the moment she appeared, and played with it restlessly every moment of her stay. Not for an instant were her hands still.

The distinctive girl with the style and the beautiful eyes was the hostess, and she poked the fire or redraped a curtain or did some nervous little thing whenever her duties as hostess did not keep her in action; and the little lady with the mop of red gold hair showed her lack of repose by a continual nervous laugh with which she punctuated her own conversation and that of everyone else.

The fifth girl sat with her hands quietly folded, listened much, talked little, laughed occasionally, fidgeted not at all and received from the older woman—who, by the way, is a rare judge of people—the palm for being the most attractive.

To a large extent prettiness is a gift of the gods. So is style. And so are such qualities as quaintness, and such blessings as red-gold hair. But repose of manner is a charm within the reach of us all, and it is a potent and powerful charm. How strange it is that so few of us dare to take possession of our kingdom!

And yet perhaps not so strange. For real repose of manner is the outward expression of repose of soul, and in these days of hurry, worry and wasted energy, there are sadly few of us who seem to have this deep serenity.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Mitchell Kirk

A good workman is known by his tools. It is a saying which is usually supposed to apply to men, but can just as well be applicable to the women in the kitchen.

A lesson which the average housekeeper must learn by heart and frequently by bitter experience is that true economy cannot be expressed wholly in dollars and cents. For years she has been "penny-wise and pound-foolish" and always at a great loss of strength and time. It has been a slow process for her to realize that the expenditure of what at the time seemed a large sum for some article in the kitchen in the end saved time, money and labor. On the other hand, many times she has had bitter experience with the alluring "bargain" which proved anything but an economical investment.

Why Dutch Cocoa Is Better

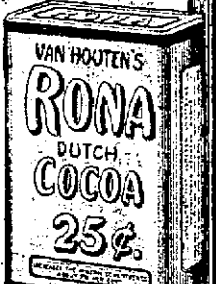

Holland is the home of good cocoa. C. J. Van Houten—the cocoa pioneer—invented the Dutch process for making cocoa.

By this process the indigestible fibre is taken out and the cocoa is made smoother—finer—richer. That's why you should demand DUTCH COCOA—and be sure to get

VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA

You'll like the rich, chocolate flavor—the smooth, soothing nutriment. Rona Cocoa is cheaper than domestic cocoas because it goes twice as far. Use only one-half a teaspoonful to the cup of milk.

Order Rona Dutch Cocoa today—from any grocer. Just taste the rich, Dutch flavor. 10c and 25c cans. C. J. VAN HOUTEN & SONS, 1100-1108 S. Wabash Av., Chicago.

In buying utensils, "the best is the cheapest," and one who makes a trial of different grades has ample opportunity to prove which gives the best service. Of course this we do know, that a medium priced article in the hands of a careful or skilled worker may outwear the very best utensil in the hands of the careless one.

When aluminum ware first invaded the country, our housefurnishing stores, it looked so bright and shining that housekeepers eagerly priced it and then proceeded to have heart-failure and thought, of course, the price was prohibitive for them. This did seem to be true at the time. Then there were all sorts of dreadful things said of it such as "dangerous to cook tomatoes and potatoes in the sauce pans," "can't be kept clean and bright," and many other derogatory and slanderous things. I don't know of another one which, unless it is fireless cooking, which I am continually asked about as "how I like aluminum ware."

Housewives Will Find Way. Let us take the cost first. It is higher priced than other ware, but with the intelligent and thoughtful consideration for attractive and necessary good equipment in our homes today, this does not cut much figure if a housekeeper wants it. There is always a way to get it. Here is one which frequently comes under my observation. One piece is purchased once a week or once in two weeks or a month, as it can be afforded. In this way the expense is not noticed. It will outlast and outwear any other utensil used in the kitchen. It does not chip nor crack and leak. It heats very readily and retains the heat for a very long time and this adds in the preparation of foods and in keeping them hot.

How can I keep my aluminum bright? This seems to be the saddest of all troubles which the proud possessor of aluminum ware seems to have. No man would buy and run a new automobile and expect to have it always looking just as it did when purchased. The same principle should apply to aluminum utensils. Contact with heat dulls the extreme luster, but not its beauty and efficiency. Any soft powder or paste which will clean silver will remove stains and, aside from that, plenty of soap and hot water will keep it as it has ours, bright, clean and shining for more than three years; though not as it looked on the counters when new, for that is too much to expect of any utensil which is for use.

Brides Elect Interested. Many girls who are to be married come to me to help plan their outfit for the kitchen. They need not buy it all at once. In fact, it is much better not to, but to buy as the necessity arises. She will then get just what will be the most service to her.

I would add to what already has been said on this subject that the evidence of utility in everything, together with good taste and judgment in every selection, are the great essentials.

Below is a partial list for the kitchen for beginning the equipment of this most up-to-date kitchen ware.

Coffee pot, teapot, tea kettle, double boiler, two-quart size; saucepan, one-quart cover; saucepan, two-quart cover; kettle, four-quart size; steel spider, No. 7, bread pans, two; pie pan; roasting pan, quart measure; measuring cup, colander, two forks, three spoons, three tablespoons, muffin pan, two cake pans.

No Excitement. A young man was compelled by his father to turn farmer against his will. Not liking the profession, he went and hanged himself, leaving this written statement: "Farming is a most senseless pursuit; a mere laboring in a cycle. You sow that you may reap, and then you reap that you may sow! Nothing ever comes of it!"

The KITCHEN CABINET

IF YOU are sighing for a lottier work, If great ambitions dominate your mind, Just watch yourself and see you do not shrink. The common little ways of being kind.

FOOD EN CASSEROLE.

Of course, all cooking in casserole is done in the oven. If one uses gas, it may seem an expensive method of cooking, but when one realizes how much can be done with the oven, the work may be planned to save every bit of heat. There are on the market small ovens which can be used on the little simmer burner at a very slight expense. The oven will save its price in a few weeks' gas bill.

There are small stone dishes which may be used to serve hot bits of any vegetable or meat and make most appetizing dishes. For example, if one has a tablespoonful or two of sweetbreads, mushrooms or fish of any kind, they may be put into a small ramekin, white sauce added, and covered with crumbs and browned when needed. For a family of five, one may have something different in each dish, and each member of the family may be suited as to choice, provided they don't all want the same thing.

Tongues which have been corned, if cooked for several hours, with seasonings, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a few drops of tabasco, half a cup of seeded raisins and a pint of beef stock, will be delicious and tender. The tongue may be removed to a platter and the sauce poured around it.

Steak may be browned and cooked with onions, tomato or mushrooms, giving a variety in serving it. We are prone to tire of certain ways of serving dishes, though we think it is the food itself of which we are tired.

Veal, though one of our expensive meats just now, may be used to add variety to the table, buying one slice from the leg, brown it well and place on a layer of carrots, turnip, onion and potato. Sprinkle with celery and pour over all the browned gravy, slightly thickened with flour. Bake slowly until tender.

A most delicious casserole dessert is baked bananas, which have a sauce of lemon butter and sugar poured over them. Serve with a half glass of currant jelly added ten minutes before serving.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am married and have one child yet still young. Will you please tell me how I can develop my bust and make it firm and hard like when I was a girl? (2) Will high top shoes be worn this summer? (3) Will you tell me how to reduce my stomach; it is too large for my size.

TOAD. (1 and 3) Deep breathing and standing with chest and chin up and shoulders back will help in both instances. Take stooping exercises to take down stomach and walk a great deal. Swing the arms well when walking. Gentle massage with cocoa butter will also help the bust a little, but the other things do more good. (2) Yes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is it not a gentleman's place to apologize when he admits to others that he knows he is in the wrong? (2) Is it wrong to keep "steady company" at the age of eighteen with a young man of the same age, if your parents approve? (3) Do you think a five-year engagement foolish? (4) What is a suitable graduation present for a young man? (5) I have a very jealous girl friend. How can I regain her former friendship? (6) What sort of a luncheon should be served at this time of the year to a party of young people? (7) What decorations would be suitable?

UNDECIDED. (1) Yes. (2) No—though I do not approve of "steady company" on the whole. You should be definitely engaged before giving all your time to one man. (3) It depends on the circumstances. (4) A book on his favorite sport or hobby. (5) Just be nice to her and give her no cause for jealousy. But it's wise to fight shy of jealous people. CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

Being "Near"

IT takes rather careful judgment to know when you are stepping across the line from economy into stinginess and meanness, doesn't it?" asked the clubwoman of her friend.

"I suppose it does, though I hadn't thought of it," replied the friend. "Economy is always held up as such a virtue that it doesn't seem possible it can descend into a vice."

"It can though. And if you have a liking for being economical, the vice of economy will get you before you know it."

"But does any one like to be economical?"

"Some women do," replied the clubwoman sagely; "they find a positive joy in seeing how low they can keep household expenses. They view with delight the fact that they never waste a scrap of food. They darn stockings till you no longer wear stockings but darns—translated by the wearer into something more explosive. And so it goes, until the whole atmosphere of such a home is saving and scrimping. If such a thing were necessary, it might be commendable; though even then I doubt it, for the person who does this is making for herself limitations and this is never commendable. But when it isn't necessary, it is really most harmful."

"I got to thinking of this," went on the clubwoman, "because of a woman I know who is this sort. She is really well off, but she has the 'near,' as some people call it—taint in her blood. And it is really spoiling her life. It began with little economies about the house, which in themselves did no harm. But now it is spreading to big things, which not only cut her out of much right enjoyment, but is actually making her mean and miserly. And if she doesn't root the trait out, her old age will be a very narrow, shut-in state of existence."

"They are wealthy, as I said, and a few thousand dollars more or less is no more to them than so many nickels to you or me. Yet she never goes out in their auto without lecturing her husband about buying so expensive a car. When they travel, she won't permit him to go to the best hotels. She simply can't bear to part with the money, though they have really more than they know what to do with. And when she entertains, her one idea is to do it as cheaply as possible, though she attends and enjoys the elaborate entertainments of her friends. But she is not generous enough to want to repay them in kind. And it is this spirit, back of these actions, that is going to make her into a narrow, unlovely woman, if she doesn't check it."

"That is true," said her friend, meditatively, "though I never thought the spirit of economy could develop into such an evil genius as this."

"It will though," replied the clubwoman. "If you just give it free rein, and don't watch where it is taking you."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Poultry Pointers.

I can't think of anything better for boys than to let them have a few chickens; and let the boys take care of them before and after school hours. It will be both pleasure and profit to them.

Give the boy a little money—enough to start with a few hens. Many a successful man owes his start in life to the ownership and management of something he took to in his boyhood days.

Some people make a hobby of their chickens. Well, there is no higher mission to humanity than to induce men and women to ride some hobby that will make them forget the cares of business for a while each day.

Let the hobby be chickens, ducks, pigeons or anything that will take them into the fresh air and sunshine away from the enervating atmosphere of four walls and roof.

If your chickens disappear, watch your cat and your neighbor's cat, and keep them off your premises, if you have to "plant" a few of them. Cats do lots of mischief in the poultry yard that is blamed on rats. Rats are bad enough, but a cat with an appetite for chicken will do more damage than rats.

Don't cut off the head of the hen that eats eggs.

Ask nine out of ten men you meet what to do in such a case and you will get the answer: "Cut off her head." But I will tell you a better way. Give your birds an all-round diet; then they will not want to eat eggs. It is when they are on short rations in some particular line, or because they are not kept busy enough that they get into this bad habit. Balance up the rations, then give the birds something to busy themselves with all the time, and you will not have any need to bring out the ax. I will give you my single treat—

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE K C BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain, every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.

ment for chicken cholera, which they often get after this rainy, spring weather.

Take half white flour and half graham flour; put in oven and brown, but do not burn. Mix with just enough milk to moisten and feed this a few times to the sick-chens. This has never failed me. Also good for child, man or woman.

For the Garden.

This is so pretty I thought other readers would like to know about it. Take a gaspige and four wistaria vines and it will make a beautiful tree.

Plant the gaspige in the earth, any height desired. The vines are planted about its base, and as they grow they twine about the pipe. When the top is reached, the branches spread outward and droop gracefully, and when in full luxuriant bloom this wistaria tree is the prettiest sight imaginable.

A friend of mine who has one says people come from miles around to see it.

We planted a tree and it did not grow, so I used that instead of the gaspige.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time. I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss Jessie Marsh, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

THE PURCHASE PRICE; OR, THE CAUSE OF COMPROMISE

CHAPTER VII. The Night.

BUT breakfast passed and no Jeanne appeared. From the great house came no sounds of human occupancy. It was with a sense of relief that at length Josephine heard a human voice.

Outside, beneath the window, quivering sounds rose. The words were French, Canadian French, scarce distinguishable to an ear trained only in the old world. It was an old man singing:

"On my heart are other years,
Happier, engraven,
Thoughts of village days find them
Flocking home, their haven."

The old voice halted, at length resumed idly. "When I think, when I think." Then after humming the air for a little time it broke out as though in the chorus, bold and strong:

"Give me back my native land or take my life away!"

The words came to her with a sudden thrill. What did they not mean to the alien, to the prisoner, to the outcast, anywhere in the world?

She stepped to the window and looked down. An old man, brown, bent and wrinkled, was digging about the shrubbery. Josephine leaned out and softly joined in the refrain:

"Give me back my native land or take my life away!"

The old man dropped his spade and looked all about, around, then at last up.

"Ah! Good morning, mademoiselle!" he said, smiling and taking off his old fur cap. "You speak also my language, mademoiselle!"

"Yes, monsieur," rejoined Josephine and addressed him further in a few sentences on trivial topics. Then, suddenly resolved, she stepped out of her own room, passed softly down the stairs, out through the wide central hall and so, having encountered no one, joined the ancient man on the lawn.

"You speak my song also, mademoiselle? You like the old song from Canadian village, ay?"

"Who are you?" demanded Josephine.

"Me, I am Eleazar, the old trap man. Summers, I work here for Monsieur Dunwoode. Very reech man, Monsieur Dunwoode. He say, 'Eleazar, you live here, all right.' When winter come I go back in the heel, trap ze furr, madame, ze cat, ze h'ottaire, ze meenk, sometime ze coon, also ze skunk. Pre' soon I'll go 'bout for trap now, mademoiselle."

"How long have you been here, Eleazar?"

"Many year, mademoiselle. In these contr'ee perhaps twent'—thirt' year, I'll don't know."

"Were you here when the lady lived here?"

He frowned at this suddenly. "I'll not know what you mean, mademoiselle. Monsieur Dunwoode be'll live b'alone here, b'all tam."

She affected not to understand him. "How long since she was here, Eleazar?" she demanded.

"What for you'll talk like these to me? I'll not know nossing, mademoiselle. I'll not even know who is mademoiselle, or why she'll been here, me. I'll not know for say, whether 'madame,' whether 'mademoiselle'—but 'mademoiselle'—I think so."

She looked about her hastily. "I'm here against my wish, Eleazar. I want to get away from here as soon as I can. Do you like money, Eleazar?"

"Of course yes. Every one likes money."

"Then listen, Eleazar. Some day we will walk, perhaps. How far is it to Cape Girardeau, where the French people live?"

"My son Hector, he'll live there wance, on Cap Girardeau. He'll make the tub, make the cask, make the barrel. Cap Girardeau be'll perhaps two—tree day. No, I walk beem once, maybe so feafy mile, maybe so seckty mile, in wany day, two—tree a little more tam, me. I was more younger then. But now my son he'll live on St. Genevieve, French place there, perhaps thirt'ee mile. Cap Girardeau, seventy-five mile. You'll want for go there?" he added cunningly.

"Sometime," she remarked calmly. Before she could resume the conversation Josephine heard behind her in the hall a step, which already she recognized. Dunwoode greeted her at the door, frowning as he saw her sudden shrinking back at sight of him.

"Good morning," he said. "You have, I hope, slept well. Have you and Eleazar been planned any way to escape as yet?" He smiled at her grimly. Eleazar had shuddered away.

"You intruded too soon."

"At least you are frank, then! You will never get away from here excepting on one condition."

She made no answer, but looked about her slowly. Her eyes rested upon a little inclosed place where some gray stones stood upright in the grass, the family burial place.

"One might escape by going there!" she pointed.

"They are my own, who sleep there," he said simply but grimly. "I wish it might be your choice, but not now—yet. We've a lot of living to do yet, both of us. If you could only find it in your heart, how much I could do for you, how much you could do for me. Look at all this. It's a home, but it's just a desert—a desert—the way it is now."

"So you desire to make all life a desert for me? It is very noble of you!"

Absorbed, he seemed not to hear her. "Suppose you had met me the way people usually meet—and you some time had allowed me to come and address you—could you have done that, do you reckon?"

"That's a question which here at least is absurd," she replied.

"You spoke once of that other country, abroad"—he broke off, shaking his head. "Who are you? I don't feel sure that I even know your name as yet."

"I am, as you have been told, Josephine, Countess St. Auban. I am French, Hungarian, American, what you like, but nothing to you. I came to this country in the interest of Louis Kossuth. I was a revolutionist yonder. I am already called an abolitionist here. Very well. The name makes little difference. The work it does."

"Is that how you happened to be there on the boat?"

"I suppose so. I was a prisoner there. I was less than a chattel. I was a piece of property to be staked, to be won or lost at cards, to be kidnapped, bandenfold, handled like a slave, it seems. And you're the unbridled to stand here and ask me who I am!"

"I've only that sort of hardihood, madam, which makes me ride straight. If I had observed the laws, I wouldn't have you here now, this morning."

"You'll not have me long. If I despise you as a man without chivalry, I still more do so because you're neither ambition nor any sense of morals."

He looked at her full in the face, his own features softened, relenting for a time, as though her appeal had touched either his mental or his moral nature. Then slowly, as he saw the excellence of her standing there, his face dropped back into its iron mold. "You are a wonderful woman," he said—"wonderful. You set me on fire, and it's only 8 o'clock in the morning. I could crush you. I could tear you to pieces. I never saw your like nor never shall. Let you go? Yes; when I'm willing to let my blood and soul go, not till then. If I were out in that graveyard, with my bones apart and your foot crossed my grave, I'd get up and come and live again with you—live—again. I say, I could live again, do you hear me?"

She broke out into a torrent of hot speech. He did not seem to hear her. He turned swiftly and left her, so that she found left unsaid certain questions as well as certain accusations she had stored for this first meeting.

That night Josephine St. Auban did not sleep. For hours she tossed about, listening. Infrequently sounds came to her ears. Once in awhile a distant step resounded in the great building, or again there came the distant voices of the negroes singing in their quarters beyond. The house had ceased its daily activities. The servants had left it. Who occupied it now? Was she alone? Was there one other?

Josephine rose, passed to the window and looked out. The moonlight lay upon the lawn like a broad silver blanket. Faint stars were twinkling in the clear sky overhead. The dark outlines of the shrubbery below showed black and strong. Upon the side of a nearby clump of leafless lilacs shone a faint light, as though from one of the barred windows below. The house was not quite asleep. She stifled her breath as she might, stifled her heart as she might lest its beating should be heard. What was about to happen? Where could she fly and how?

Escape by the central stairway would be out of the question, because by that way only could danger approach. She leaned out of the window. Cautious at the coarse ivy vine which climbed up the old wall of the house, she saw that it ascended past her window to the very cornice where the white pillars joined the roof. The pillars themselves, vast and smooth, would have been useless even could she have reached them. Below a slender lattice or ladder had been erected to the height of one story to give the ivy its support. She clutched at the ivy desperately. It seemed to her that, although the smaller tendrils loosened, the greater arms held firm.

She stepped back into the room and listened. At last there came a footfall. Was it true? It seemed not heavy enough for a man's step, but a man on secret errand might tread light. She clung herself upon the bed, her hands clasped, her lips moving in supplication.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rann.

THE refrigerator is a handsome piece of furniture which will hold everything but ice. You can stuff a refrigerator full of early vegetables, fresh butter and skimmed milk and it will hold them until they all taste alike, but the minute that a 50-pound chunk of ice is placed inside it will fade away faster than the creamed chicken at a church supper.

Ice is placed inside of a refrigerator for the purpose of keeping things which otherwise would curl up and die before they could be worked into a semblance of food. The refrigerator accomplishes this by freezing the contents into a stiff and pallid state, in the meantime allowing the languorous breath of the young union to permeate the butter.

People who like chop suey and Welsh rarebit do not object to this practice, but mingle rutabagas, Dutch cheese and custard pie in the same refrigerator with the utmost nonchalance.

Refrigerators are filled with icy-coarse men who weigh the ice with the human eye, seize it around the neck with a pair of tongs and jam it into the ice box with a noise like throwing a chifferlaw down the back stairs. This is done as early in the morning as possible, so that the head of the house will have to get out of bed and let the iceman in. Most icemen call about 6:00 a. m. and try to hatter down the back door while waiting for father to slip on his bath robe.

The ice compartment in a refrigerator is built to hold fifty pounds, but by the time the iceman has dragged a chunk over the front lawn and broken it up on the kitchen floor it will look like a piece of nut coal. Some refrigerators have the habit of running out of zero weather just when the hostess is about to open a six o'clock dinner, compelling her to serve butter which gives way at the knee joints in a very humiliating manner.

Refrigerators are filled with icy-coarse men who weigh the ice with the human eye, seize it around the neck with a pair of tongs and jam it into the ice box with a noise like throwing a chifferlaw down the back stairs. This is done as early in the morning as possible, so that the head of the house will have to get out of bed and let the iceman in. Most icemen call about 6:00 a. m. and try to hatter down the back door while waiting for father to slip on his bath robe.

The ice compartment in a refrigerator is built to hold fifty pounds, but by the time the iceman has dragged a chunk over the front lawn and broken it up on the kitchen floor it will look like a piece of nut coal. Some refrigerators have the habit of running out of zero weather just when the hostess is about to open a six o'clock dinner, compelling her to serve butter which gives way at the knee joints in a very humiliating manner.
